A RETREAT FOR INVALIDS.

THE CLIMATE OF THESE ISLANDS cially favorably known. The district of Kona, or the lee side of Hawaii, has long been famed as a place of resort for those afflicted with affections of the lungs. Not a few cases have been known of persons who had been given over as sure to die, by their physicians in California, after a few months residence in the pure, mild air of Kona, recovering The undersigned, at his commodious house at Kanwalos South Kona, is prepared to furnish good accommodations to boarders at the low rate of $5 per week; including good saddle horses when desired, and good fresh water baths, on the prem-ises, also within a short distance of fine sea bathing. The ises, also within a short distance of line sea bathing. The steamer Kilauca runs regularly between Honolulu and the port of Kanwaloa, and horses are kept ready at the beach. Every accommodation and comfort in the way of diet. MILK and HONEY in abundance. Belightful rides in the neighbor-

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

F The Hawalian Mission Children's Society will sect this evening at the residence of Rev. W. Freur, at KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.-We are requested to state that there will be a special convention of Oalin Lodge No 1 this evening, at seven o'clock. A full attendance desired.

We look for the Costa Rica, or some other

THEATRE TO-NIGHT.—Miss Maggie Knight, the charming little singer and danseuse offers a good bill for this evening at the Hawalian Theatre.

man, was charged in the Police Court with smuggling tweive boxes of opinin, under Sec. 1, Chap. 70 of the Penal Code. The testimony was brief, and independent will be given OUR FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE .- On the first page will be found an interesting letter from Paris, and on the inside a letter from our regular New York correspondent. These malis, will well repay perusal. ENTERTAINMENT ON TUESDAY EVENING .- By advertisement in to-day's paper it will be seen that the Ladies' Benevolent Society will give a concert of music with tableaux, at Buffum's Hall, on Tuesday evening next. The Society is a very useful and praiseworthy one, a fact which ought to fill the hall to overflowing. More Comportable.-About a month ago we sugrested in this column that it would be only fair to the native deck passengers on the steamer Kilanea that a permanent awning should be provided for their protection from the son and rain. We are pleased to notice this week that the awning has been spread, much to the satisfaction of the native travel-

under the above head in to-day's paper, and then go and visit the establishment, near the corner of Fort and Hotel streets. The proprietor is just completing a range of stalls, neatly and conveniently arranged, for the sale of vegetables, fish, poultry, etc., adjoining the meat market, which will be a great convenience to purchasers of family supplies, STREET SIGNS .- We regret to notice that our "hoodlums" have recommenced the practice of smearing and defacing the street signs,—particularly observable on the corner of Hotel and Alakea streets. At or about that corner there is always to be found one or more of our native police day and night, but somehow they never can catch the rascally boys who are concerned in this mischief. A CHANCERY CASE DECIDED .- Last Thursday a decision was given in the Supreme Court in the case of the Estate of Nakuapa, which has been in litigation for the past three or four years. The real estate includes some valuable lots in this city, mostly held under lease, and a personalty of some $4,000. A native named Napepa is declared to be the heir. Messrs, Harris and Stanley for the claims of essrs. Harris and Stanley for the claimant. HEAVY OREGON OATS, superior article. OREGON OATS A WRETCHED DEATH.-Last Sunday a native man Honolulu with several bottles of liquor in his possession, was seen to drink freely on the road, became very intoxicated and fell from his horse, and when found was quite dead, evidently from the effects of bad gin; and yet our law says nobody shall give, sell or furnish to a native.

"ONE WORD."-The little Punahou Journal of Thursday, dreads seeing "the city burned down over ou heads (which may happen any time) and which would be vented now by just one word from our Ministers-that is in giving us 'more water!' The boys are certainly sound in the main, but it will probably require several words from the Ministry before we get the desired supply of water. IN THE BULRUSHES .- The alarm of fire on Sunday services in the churches, was caused by a fire in the bulrush fields of Waikiki. The long-continued drought had brought the rushes into the condition of tinder and the fire worked against the wind, burning over a space of about one hundred acres. The only damage done was the destruction of a small grass but. The natives think the fire was the work of an in-"THE NUHOU HAWAII," is the title of Mr. Gibson's new paper, an eight-page weekly, in Hawaiian and English, which is to appear next Monday afternoon. The prospectus promises that the new paper will advocate the permanent independence of "this Archipelago," and be especially devoted to the political instruction of the Hawaiian race. It will probably be quite as outspoken and "slashing" as its predecessor, the Semi-Weekly, and will excite curiosity if it does not inspire approval. Subscription $2 per annum. The San Francisco Bulletin says that the prospects of beet culture in the State are exceedingly ing, and with the decline of cane sugar manufactured in he Southern States it is not improbable that it will ultimately be the source of supply of a large portion of the sugar con-sumed in the United States. The venture of the Alvarado Company has proved eminently successful, and the farmers of the locality have discovered that it is possible to raise a very fair crop of beets when wheat, from excessive moisture or ight, has entirely failed. Music This Afternoon.-The Band will play at Emma Square, commencing at 4) o'clock. Following is the programme, to conclude with a march around the square: Air, Opera "Fallstaff,".....

2 Quicksteps Suez. Radetzky. ANOTHER ESCAPE FROM FIRE.-Last Wednesday evening, just before 10 o'clock, we had another of those narrow escapes from a conflagration for which this city is proverbial. A Chinese tailor who occupies a shop on Nuuanu street just below Beretania, (a favorable spot to start a fire in) was turning down a kerosene lamp to extinguish when it burst, and scattered the blazing fluid in all direction Directly Opposite Mr. G. Rhodes' Fire-Proof The people in the house-Chinese and natives-had the presence of mind to promptly smother the flame with a bed-quilt,

" Hawaii Ponot," -one of the native journals,- has an article on opium smuggling, and deprecates the increasing use of the drug among the people arising from their association with the Chinese. It recom-mends that the next Legislature repeal the law authorizing the granting of opium licenses, and that the sale of the drug be prohibited to all except regular physicians; that any other persons found having opium in their possession be punishable by fine and imprisonment; and that the police receive enlarged powers to search for it. The subject ought, and doubtles will receive the careful attention of the next Legislature. STABLE WIT .- We do not mean wit which retains its force, and like good wine is improved in flavor by age, but what we will call the wit of the stables, and of low associations. To spell shockingly and talk and write ungrammatically, may have its attractions to those whose highest literary enjoymen is found in a scurrilous newspaper, or in such grotesque writ-ings as Josh Billings, Artemas Ward, and Nasby have been able to fill books with; but we doubt whether any one is the better for it. We don't care to hear high-flown language in daily con-

of illiterate and coarse people, in order to make a pleasing im-pression with one's style of writing and talking. These reflec-tions are suggested in looking over the first page of the Puna-hou Journal of this week, and are submitted to the candid consideration of its youthful editors. DEATH OF ME. ANDREW AULD .- One by one the old residents are passing away. Last Sunday morning Mr. Andrew Auld, a resident of Honolulu for the last forty-eight years, quietly breathed his last at his homestead on Beretania street which he had occupied since 1826, in the midst of his family, including descendants of the third generation. His funeral was attended the same afternoon by the Mechanics' Benefit Union, of which he was a member, and b a numerous concourse of our citizens. In accordance with hi own expressed desire, his body was laid between that of his wife and his countryman and friend, Alexander Adams, who preceded him about two years. During his long residence of these islands, Mr. Auld maintained a character for integrity persevering industry and storing worth, that constitutes a valuable legacy to his descendants. He was born in 1799, at Linlithgow, near Edinburgh, in Mid-Lothian, Scotland, and first arrived at these islands in April, 1825.

High Prices for Cattle.-At a recent sale in the | bably never been equalled. State of New York, eleven cows of the celebrated Duchess breed brought the following astonishing prices: $5,700, $10,000, $15,000, $15,000, $15,000, $19,000, $25,000, $27,000, $30,000, and $40,600! An event of rather a humorous kind took place during the sale, which called forth a loud shout and clapping of hands from the crowd. As they were bidding on the 8th Duchess of Geneva, she followed the herds-man quietly around the ring, displaying her fine points to the best advantage; but as the auctioneer reached the bid of $40,000 she suddenly stopped in her walk, menacingly threw up her head, as if amazed at being rated at so astounding a sum, and began to back out of the ring with all her might. It was some time before they could bring her back, and it took three stout men to do it. The bidding again began upon her, and was finally run up to $40,600, at which price she was struck off, when the noble cow quietly followed her herdsman GOOD TEMPLARS.—The following are the officers elected by the different lodges in Honolulu for the

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

This letter had better be entitled, " From our occasionally irregular New York correspondent,"

NEW YORK, September 9, 1873.

instead of that other, and rather fancy title, "Our regular New York letter." However, your New York letters should have been frequent and somewhat regular had it not been for circumstances beyond your correspondent's control. A more than usually busy winter and spring, demanding all time possible to be given to anything else than rest. The rather singular state of Hawalian affairs too has acted as a check upon correspondence. To an outsider, the changes may not have presented any peculiar aspect, but to one who has any knowledge of the affairs of that little Pacific " vest pocket " kingdom, (excuse apparent disrespect) the situation has appeared very strange and unaccountable. With a new Executive, of the known character and opinions Prince William Lunalilo, it was to be expected that the "ins" would go out, and vice versa; but was somewhat unexpected, finding how the ' honest " opinions and sentiments of the respective parties changed, on change of position, and amusing withal. The question of leprosy seems to be very serious, but probably it has been somewhat overdrawn; at any rate it has excited a great deal of attention in this country, and there has been considerable unfavorable newspaper comment thereupon The effect may be unfavorable upon the question of reciprocity, and will tend to repel emigration, which might have been justly expected in view of the increasing facilities of communication with the rest of the world. The fact is, that the course pursued by parties in Honolulu has been such as to act unfavorably upon Hawaiian prospects. Attention has been attracted to the islands by the recent events there, and because that much has appeared in the papers and magazines of this country concerning both people and country within the past few months. But favorable ideas and thoughts have been repelled by the tone of some of the Honolulu journals. The writer has heard such remarks as-" Judging from the Hawaiian newspapers I should think that they desired to repel rather than invite settlement." And so it certainly has seemed. Readers of the Honolulu papers are amused also at the idea evidently entertained by island people of your importance; and there can hardly be a doubt but that island people do over-estimate the value of the country. It would probably astonish the natives to know that if Hawaii was to apply for annexation to the United States a general vote of the people of this country would be unfavorable to any such project. Judging from the tone of the leading papers of this country there can be no doubt on that point. But it may surprise and will probably interest Honoluluans and the nation in general, that reciprocity with Hawaii is more favorably looked upon than annexation, because that the latter is not desired, while it is wished to keep American influence quite as powerful there as that of any other nation, for the purpose of preventing any other nation obtaining possession. That is, the feeling here is just this. The United States do not want the Hawaiian Islands, nor do they want any other power to obtain control there. It would be a good pill to put that fact into Hawaiian, and then give it to those raging patriots of the June Kaumakapili meeting. Judging from reports, one would think that the speakers at that amusing demonstration felt that the world would go to war for the sake of Hawaii. Speaking of that meeting, it reminds one very much of a scene in Shakespeare's Julius Casar, when the populace would not hear a word against Brutus, and soon were raging for his blood. But my criticism upon the leaders of that meeting may not be apropoby the time it is published, although it would have been about the first of August, the date of last papers received here. Dropping Hawaiian affairs, readers may be more interesting to know of affairs in this country, and first of the most interesting point at this season

Every year, some hitherto unknown spot becomes a public favorite. The past summer has witnessed a more general scattering than ever before. Of the thousands who left the city, many went to the coast of Maine, to Bay Harbor, Mount Desert and other points. Rye Beach in New Hampshire has become a New York favorite, having been hitherto monopolized by Boston summer wanderers. The mountains of Virginia and Tennessee have drawn many; some have gone to the wonderful Yellowstone region, some to Europe and so on. But Saratoga, New York and Long Branch still retain their supremacy, attracting thousands, where other places draw tens and bundreds. President Grant has been at Long Branch, but not so continuously as last summer, thither also flocked the public birds of prey, office seekers and politicians, and filled the place with their wearisome and unprincipled trickery. But "so it must be in republics." The summer has been peculiar and not just such as best pleases hotel keepers and pleasure seekers. It has been chill and uncomfortable, therefore people have not spent money enough either to satisfy the landlords or themselves. The months of June and July were very dry; August was wet, consequently great damage was done to the fruit and other crops during the former period, and the horse races were spoiled in the latter. The probability is, that out of towners cared more for the latter than the other evil. On the whole, the pleasure season has not been a success, and one feature of sadness has attended it, to an unexampled extent, that is, in the great number of cases of death by drowning; a remarkable fatality seems to have shadowed each of the great public bathing resorts, to say nothing of the many who were lost in ponds and streams. There has been a criminal lack of life saving apparatus, as is usually the case, but probably it will be just the same next year. The great Saratoga races were a disappointment to all concerned; particularly with the betting fraternity, who almost always bet on the wrong horse this year. Owing to the frequentrains, the races were postponed day after day, and so nobody but the livery stable keepers made any money, while the crowds of sight seers were disgusted by their frequent disappointments. The Adirondacks are no longer guarded by inaccessible mountain fastnesses and unbroken forest, so that the "vulgar crowd" have this year, just about cleaned out the game and fish. It must have harrowed the soul of many a born hunter to have seen the absurd and shocking work done by some of the would-be Nimrods. The Sun tells a good story of one case. A young man of wealth patronized very liberally the keeper of a hotel near one of the lakes, so the host very considerately forbade any one except our youthful shot, from killing deer. One day a party went out on the lake, and in another boat was " young hunter" and a guide; men and dogs in the woods soon started out a doe which took to the water and swam for a high land, reaching that and dashing up the side, "young hunter" shot without effect, and the deer ran down the other side into the water, was headed off, turned back, and running up the hill again, was shot at with like result. This was repeated five or six times, and finally the poor deer was wounded in the leg. The boat then pulled up alongside of the poor animal, and putting the gun against its head, "young hunter" killed it! And by this time, probably our young friend is in the city bragging to his proud friends of how he shot deer off in the woods. There is a great deal of such wicked fooling, vastly more than is known of, and public sentiment ought to condemn it severely. But the season is now about over, and vast crowds are hurrying back to the city. The entire carrying capacity of the Hudson River

New York begins to look more like itself; the fall trade promises to be brisk; horses are in demand. and real estate owners and brokers begin to calculate the amount of profits to be made this season; building is being vigorously resumed, and workmen have abundant employment.
